

Deregulation would provide opportunity for consolidation of media ownership, which would open the media to presentation of limited points of view. The media is how we learn about issues, and it is therefore of utmost importance that we keep ownership diversified and broad-based. I see deregulation of ownership of the media as an extremely serious affront to our democracy.